

by Simon Brett, directed by Brenda White

"Silhouette is something different in the thriller genre, a whodunit with an extra twist. For a start it is played backwards ... and the final twist had me completely fooled. So if you enjoy trying to work out who really did it and sorting through red herrings, this is the play for you." Eric Scott absolutetheatre.com.au , 3 May 2005

"Ten out of ten" - MB, audience member - May 2005