

"The play just crackled along and was really very funny. It helps when you have a top class cast too, one that really knows how to deliver comic lines. It was a very well cast play The cast worked together to create belly laughs from beginning to end and had the audience responding with great glee." " ...There are indeed some nice performances from the cast who work hard from start to finish. ... The set, complete with panels that fall down, doors that get jammed and furniture that collapses, has been designed well by the clever Sue Watson. Costumes are well chosen and the entire cast thoroughly enjoy themselves on stage. The audience seemed to like it too, which of course is the main thing."
